

'B' Certificate

A candidate achieves the 'B' certificate after attending one training camp and spending 1-2 years in the junior wing. A candidate must have 75% of attendance in NCC training in the senior wing to get the 'B' certificate. The benefits of NCC certificate 'B' help the students who want to join Indian Army as 'Jawan'. The biggest benefit of NCC certificate 'B' is that now you can enrol for the 'C' certificate of NCC which is very useful. Trainees also get some extra marks in the department of telecommunication and few other public sectors after achieving 'B' certificate in NCC.

'C' Certificate

To get the 'C' certificate the candidate must have got a 'B' certificate. He/she must have attended minimum 75% of total training parade. He must be in the third year of training and have attended minimum 2 national pieces of training. The 'C' certificate is the most important certificate of NCC training. When we talk about the selection procedure of armed forces, the benefits of NCC certificate 'C' always give an advantage to the candidate. Indian Defence Services and Civil Services, both are the preferable career options. The reason behind choosing any one of them as a career is that both have high remuneration and a chance to serve the country directly. People working in defence and civil services get high respect, and this also a reason behind joining these two sectors. When an aspirant has a dream to be a part of any one of these sectors, they will have to make an early start. Joining NCC helps the cadets in the recruitment in Indian Defence services. Let's get more information about it from the below given section
