INTERIM FEEDBACK - INFERRENTIAL STATISTICS REPORT - FRESHMEN ENGINEERING

SUMMER SEMESTER 2022-2023

The Interim Feedback Analysis for the Summer Semester 2022-23 was conducted to evaluate the quality of instruction and overall student satisfaction in the Foundation theory course - Biology for Engineers (Course Code: 10210BM101) offered by the Department of Biotechnology & Biomedical Engineering to Freshmen Engineering Students of various departments. Feedback was collected from students across 21 sections (SoC-A to SoC-U) and evaluated using a five-point rating scale, where higher values indicate greater levels of student satisfaction.

The feedback ratings range from 3.8 to 4.9, demonstrating an overall positive response toward the course delivery. A majority of the sections recorded ratings above 4.0, reflecting effective teaching-learning practices and satisfactory student engagement. The highest rating of 4.9 indicates excellent instructional quality and strong alignment with student expectations, while the lowest rating of 3.8 still falls within an acceptable satisfaction level.

Analysis of the distribution suggests low variability among the ratings, as most values are clustered between 4.0 and 4.7. This indicates consistency in course execution across different sections. Several sections achieved scores above 4.5, highlighting uniform instructional effectiveness and positive learning experiences across the cohort. Sections with comparatively lower ratings provide scope for focused improvement in instructional strategies and student interaction.

Repeated offerings of the course across multiple sections show stable feedback trends, implying standardized course content, assessment methods, and delivery approaches. In summary, the interim feedback analysis reflects high overall student satisfaction with the course. The results indicate that the course objectives were largely met, instructional methods were effective, and the learning environment was conducive. Continuous monitoring of feedback and implementation of corrective measures in relatively lower-rated sections can further enhance the quality of teaching and learning outcomes in future offerings.
