Aims and Scope:

The International Journal of Mathematics and Scientific Computing (IJMSC) is an international journal of high quality, devoted to the publication of original research articles from all fields of Mathematics and Scientific Computing.

Areas and subareas of interest include (but are not limited to):

- Advanced Computing Techniques
- Algebra and Discrete Mathematics
- Algebraic and Differential Geometry
- Applications of Control Theory
- Artificial Neural Networks
- Bioinformatics
- Chaos Theory and Control
- Classical Mechanics
- Complex Analysis
- Computational Biology
- Computational Chemistry
- Computational Fluid Dynamics
- Computer Science
- Control Systems
- Data Structures and Algorithms
- Dynamical Systems and Stability Theory
- Evolutionary techniques in Science and Engineering
- Functional Analysis
- Fuzzy Logic Control
- Genetic Algorithms
- Graph Theory and Combinatorics
- Intelligent Systems
- Information Theory
- Linear Algebra
- Linear and Nonlinear Programming
- Linear Control Theory
- Markov Chains
- Mathematical Control Theory

- Mathematical Methods
- Mathematical Modelling
- Measurement Systems
- Modelling and Control
- Number Theory
- Nonlinear Control Theory
- Numerical Analysis
- Operations Research
- Optimization and Optimal Control
- Ordinary Differential Equations
- Partial Differential Equations
- Probability and Statistics
- Process Control and Automation
- Random Processes
- Real Analysis
- Robust Control
- Scientific Computing
- Soft Computing Techniques
- Statistical Techniques
- Stochastic Modelling
- Theory of Estimation
- Topology

Submission: Authors are requested to submit their papers (in the prescribed MS Word template) electronically to ijmsc@vel-tech.org along with the duly signed copyright form.

Publishing Charges: None

Frequency: Bi-annual (June and December)
